

Back to Health, Back to Life.

Stonerise Home Health's Approach to Transitional Care

As patients transition between one care setting or provider to another, they are at higher risk for hospitalization. Stonerise Home Health's Transitional Care services ensure a patient-centered plan incorporates evidence-based best practices to improve care coordination, patient engagement and clinical outcomes. We get patients back to health and back to life—all in the comfort of their home.

Our Best Practices

A sample of the transitional care best practice interventions we deliver today:

Care Coordination

- Timely initiation of care
- Use of predictive analytics for hospital and fall risk assessments
- Integration of therapy and social services
- Increased touchpoints during high-risk and stabilization periods
- Early intervention with care providers for ED/hospital diversion
- Medication reconciliation

Patient Engagement

- Welcome call prior to start of care
- Motivational and self-management engagement
- Patient goal establishment and partnership
- Telephonic follow-up between visits
- Patient-specific written, oral or video-based education
- Use of Teach-Back method

About Us

We offer innovative healthcare solutions to get patients throughout West Virginia and beyond back to health and back to life. The Stonerise Network provides an essential and broad range of transitional care services to patients in West Virginia and southeast Ohio through transitional and skilled nursing care centers, therapy, home health, and hospice.

Stonerise Home Health specializes in heart failure, COPD, diabetes, cardiovascular illness, fall reduction and wound care. Our highly skilled clinicians engage patients and empower them toward independence. Founded in 2015, Stonerise Home Health serves 25 counties and has nearly 200 team members.

Why Choose Us

- Customized, Quality Care
- Reinforced Physician Care Plans at Home
- Regular Outcomes Reporting Back to You
- Continuity of Care Across the Stonerise Network
- Local Chaplain Support

Contact us to refer a patient or learn more about Stonerise Home Health's extensive services.

(304) 348-2680

intake@stonerise.com

Secure E-Fax:
(888) 801-5478